מי עוד רוצה ללמוד אנגלית בעשרה שיעורים?

בהתחלה

אני זוכר כשהתחלתי ללמד אנגלית לפני שנים עשרה שנים, אנשים שאלו אותי, 'נחמיה, כמה זמן לוקח ללמוד אנגלית למתחילים?' הייתי אומר עשרים וחמישה עד שלושים שיעורים. הורדתי כל הזמן את המספר. ועכשיו בשיטה חדשה מדהימה, 80% מהתלמידים יכולים ללמוד אנגלית בעשרה שיעורים, יש כאלה שלמדו בשישה! אז מה הסוד?

ספר לי עוד

השיעורים הם רק 27.50 פאונד לאדם אחד דרך סקייפ ו-48.50 פאונד ביקור בבית. השיעור הוא למשך שעה. אני יודע שאתה חושב שזה יקר. זה לא יקר כי תורשיים אותי הם 18 תורשים עם מורה רגיל. לא כדאי להתעכב: אתה יכול לרכוש את הידע החשוב והחיוני בעשרה שיעורים יפים. אתה משלם רק עבור השיעור שאתה לוקח, ואתה יכול להפסיק בכל עת. ויש עוד.

השביעיה הסודית

ישנם אלפי כללים באנגלית. אך אתה יכול לזכור את כולם? אחרי שלימדתי מאות סטודנטים, הבנתי שאתה צריך לזכור רק שבעה. זה לא ייאמן, אבל שבעה כללים אלה הם המפתח לכל השפה. אבל האם אתה תזכור אותם?

סודות נוספים

בשיטה מיוחדת ומוהגת, אני שותף את המילים בויכוח שלך ומלמד אותך להשתמש בכללים באופן טבעי וקל. אבל האם מספיקים עשרה שיעורים?

מובטח

אני כל כך בטוח בשיטה שלי שאם תעבר שנים עשרה שיעורים בלי לדבר בנוחות, אתן הנחה של 25% עד שתגיעו למטרה. ויש עוד.

כל האנגלית בכף ידך

תוכל לדבר, לקרוא ולהבין ברמה בינונית. המשמעות היא שאתה תוכל לדבר ולהבין את רוב האנשים בשיחות כלליות מכיוון שתבין בכירור איך השפה עובדת.

חינם רק לשני השבועות הבאים

כל שיעור יותיר אותך מרוצה. תראה שאיתי אתה באמת יכול להצליח. שיעור אחד איתי ישכנע אתכם בכך, אך יש לי הצעה אחת אחרונה: כל מי שמתחיל בשבועיים הקרובים, יקבל שיעור ראשון חינם ללא התחייבות

שיעור 1 עד 2: כללי הקריאה

שיעור 2 עד 5: החווה + מילים חיוניות

שיעור 6: העתיד + מילים חיוניות יותר

שיעור 7 עד 8: העבר + מילים הכרחיות

שיעור 8 עד 10: אתה תדבר!

תפתור את הבעיה הזאת עכשיו

אתה צריך ללמוד אנגלית. מדוע לעכב לטפל בבעיה זו?

התקשר לנחמיה 07703.787.108

אם קו הטלפון תפוס, אנא השאר הודעה-

על ההר

דמיון את זה: אחרי עשרה שיעורים מדהימים איתי, אם הייתי משאיר אותך לבד על הר באמצע אנגליה בלי טלפון ונסף, היית יכול לתקשר בצורה ברורה ויפה עם המקומיים ולהבין ולמצוא את דרכך הביתה.

A groundbreaking initiative for worldwide Limud Torah

CHAVREI HASIYUM

AGUDATH YISROEL of THE UNITED KINGDOM

UNITING THROUGH TORAH

The Siyum HaShas is the greatest celebration of Torah in recent times. Tens of thousands of Daf Yomi learners celebrate their monumental accomplishment, of 2,711 days – 7 ½ years – of commitment, dedication, and perseverance. But learning the Daf is not for everyone. As Chazal teach us, ain adam lomeid Torah elah memakom shelibo chafetz – A person only learns what his heart desires.

The expansion of Torah learning over the last decades is extraordinary. Some learn beiyun, some bekiyus, some an amud a day, some an amud a week. Some learn Mishnayos, some enjoy Halachah and some Hashkafah. Although there are many ways to learn, we share in the delight of our unified Torah.

At the behest of the Gedolei Yisroel, we are expanding the Siyum's mission. The Gedolei Yisroel charged us with a sacred mission, the mission of Ki Heim Chayeinu. The Chavrei HaSiyum Initiative is designed to increase kviyas itim laTorah in a way that motivates, unites and empowers every Kehilah and every individual through Torah learning.

*Be A Mesayim
At The Siyum
Not An Attendee*

Torah is what has unified our nation
for the last 3,000 years.
Let's reunite through Torah once again.

London – Lets finish

What is Chavrei HaSiyum?

Whether through learning the Daf or Amud Yomi, Daf Hashavua, or any daily or weekly limud of Torah, Torah is our life, our strength and our passion. This was the core of the great vision of Rav Meir Shapiro ztl: to promote unified, consistent, commitment to Torah learning, and the mission we carry on today.

Hundreds of Kehilos are joining together around the world to make their own siyum at The Siyum. Chavrei HaSiyum is for every shul and Kehilla. Picture the excitement of coming to The Siyum, rejoicing with thousands of fellow Jews in celebration of your own personal and communal accomplishment.

How does it work?

1

Sign Up!

2

Choose whether your Kehilah would like to make a siyum on an entire Mesechta or a number of Dafim - there's something for everyone.

3

Work together with your Chavrei HaSiyum gabbai to launch the program for your kehilah.

4

Organise an evening for the Kehilla to learn the Mesechta together.

Be a Mesayeim at The Siyum on 7 January, 2020

Naming a baby is said to include an element of prophecy, which forms the child's spiritual destiny. Tragically, we were only able to name our baby after his passing, unable to help shape this destiny. Avidan, meaning that 'Hashem has judged', reflected our acceptance of his fate and our resolve to have faith.

Whether we experience pure joy or intense sorrow, throughout it all Hashem is with us every step of the way. He asks us to look beyond the pain, and to learn and grow from it - because life is a journey and Hashem has a masterplan.

And as we did this, we started to realize that Avidan did fulfil his destiny in life - he taught us that Hashem is just and therefore 'Lo Ira', I will not fear, 'Ki Hashem Li', because Hashem is always with me. From the depths of my soul to each and every one of yours, may this song help us to realise that Hashem's greatness pervades every moment. We may be happy or we may be sad, but our Father is always just.

Kitan Freilich

All proceeds from the single will be donated to Avidan's mission fund.

Avidan's Mission - a project of Camp Simcha (charity no. 1180646)

At Menorah Foundation School our children are at the heart of everything we do. Recognising each child's unique contribution and building on their self-esteem, we learn, grow and succeed together in a community rich in the values of Torah and Mitzvos, where every child is not only encouraged but inspired to reach their potential. By achieving together as a whole school community we encourage everyone to become life-long learners and 'reach for their star'.

DARK TAPESTRY

by Ruthie Pearlman

In the sitting room, looking extremely uncomfortable, was Colin Sommers.

"I'm really sorry to trouble you on your Sabbath," he was saying. The detective was sitting on an armchair nursing a long cool drink. Don was sitting at the table with a Gemara open before him.

"Do you have some news?" Ilana asked breathlessly.

"No. Sorry. I was just passing and thought I would drop in and see how you all were. I hope I'm not intruding."

Colin didn't say that he had, for some reason he couldn't even fathom himself, decided to walk over to the Hardmans' today rather than take the car. He rationalized that it was a beautiful day, a shame to take the car.

"Well, that's very kind of you," Ilana said, feeling vaguely uncomfortable that this non-Jew was visiting her on Shabbos. But he seemed comfortable in their presence so they relaxed. After a while, Don closed his Gemara, joined them in the lounge area, stretched his long legs out, and became expansive. He chatted about his youth in Iowa, about being in a Jewish family in a small middle American town where the Jewish community of some twenty families was like the token blacks in a company. They had a very small shul in someone's house, a mikveh shared between four small towns in the region, and a day school, also shared between them.

"We went to non-Jewish high schools," Don said, in a reminiscing mood. "It was tough. No one really understood our ways, particularly the secular Jewish kids; they were the most antisemitic of the lot. The non-Jewish kids were willing to be tolerant; the secular Jewish kids just thought we were weirdos or worse, tried to talk us out of being religious. And since they had at least a marginal knowledge of their faith, they were better able to hit us below the belt or sting us with fragments of half-known knowledge twisted out of all existence. There was one boy, made my life a total misery. He had a fair knowledge of the Bible and Talmud, enough to put doubts into the heads of the most staunch believers among us. Luckily, speaking for myself, that pain in the neck had the effect of making me build huge invisible fences around myself, fences through which no one could touch me." He paused, drifting. "I heard he came to live in England when his father's company redeployed him. I often wonder what became of him. Anyway, as soon as I possibly could, I left Iowa and came to yeshivah in Lakewood — that's in New Jersey — and later on in Jerusalem."

Ilana smiled. "I was in seminary there at the time and not really interested in getting married. But then we both went to the same wedding, and a mutual friend pointed him out to me as I stood watching the men's dancing at the edge of the mechitzah — that's a dividing screen to separate the men and women. My friend said, 'Do you want to go out with him?' I just blushed and made some inane comment, but she got the hint and put a few words in the right ears. The rest, as they say, is history."

"Did you get married in Israel, then?" Colin asked casually, as if this kind of lifestyle was totally alien to him. Admittedly he had not gone to yeshivah before his sliding away from tradition, but he knew what it was to sit and study a page of Gemara and enjoy it, too. In another lifetime...

"No, he followed me back here to meet my parents. We got engaged and married over here. His parents didn't mind that he wanted to live in London."

"All my computer studies and training were done after marriage," Don explained, "although I learned the basics in high school, of course."

"I see," Colin said. "So you haven't met up with your Iowa small-town tormentor over here?"

"Nope. Always wondered if I would. Somehow, when you're grown-up, your nightmares don't seem so bad and you don't mind confronting them again just to exorcize them."

"Was he really such a nightmare?"

Don leaned back and closed his eyes, remembering.

"He had the dangerous combination of arrogance and just enough knowledge to cover up the fact that he was, in fact, incredibly ignorant about Judaism. With the little he did know, embellished to the nth degree, he managed to really screw my head up. He made me doubt and worry about things that were not my concern. He had a way with words, a way of looking right through me."

There was a short silence, then Ilana laughed, a little embarrassed. "Don often talks about this guy. He obviously had a devastating, if short-lived, effect on his teenage years. Can I get you a tea and some cake, Detective Inspector?"

"I don't know about short-lived," Don said thoughtfully. "Whenever I have any doubts, he creeps into my head like a demon and niggles and niggles at me until I want to crush him like an annoying insect."

"Thank you, I would love it," Colin answered.

"I'll help," Leora offered, jumping up.

The two women left the room together.

"So your association with this boy ended when you went to yeshivah, I presume?" Just the right amount of faltering over the word yeshivah, just the right amount of mistake in the accentuation to show I am not really familiar with the word.

"Well, before really," Don said. "Things... things happened, and the family moved out of town. Next thing I knew his father had been transferred to England. I never heard from him again."

"Things?" Colin prompted. He didn't really understand Don's need to talk about his past, but if he wanted to talk, he was willing to listen, and, after all, this Shabbos visit was a social call, not official police business. He had wanted to see how the family was holding up under the stress.

"Things. His father. I don't really want to talk about it. Not necessary now. Ah, here's the tea."

Colin left soon after, the images of the Hardmans' tranquil Shabbos lingering in his mind.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Shabbos finished late, around nine-thirty. As soon as Havdalah was over, Leora went upstairs and changed out of her Shabbos clothes into her "work" clothes — a long loose skirt, a three-quarter-length-sleeved T-shirt, and black and purple Reeboks. She tied her hair up on top of her head with an interesting purple velvet scrunchy and came downstairs again, announcing she was going back to her office at the police station to look at the trace evidence she had prepared before Shabbos.
