NEW FROM TURA

BOLD & BALANCED

This Limited Edition wine is a blend of several varieties. It matured for six months in cherry and prune aroma-infused barrels. A round, balanced and pleasant wine which is suitable for both light and heavy meals.

This Mountain Vista Valley wine, unique to Tura Winery, is made of a blend of Cabernet Sauvignon & Merlot. After a month-long slow fermentation at a very low temperature, the wine was filtered and bottled to maintain a delicate sweetness. The wine is pleasant, particularly aromatic and suitable as a dessert wine. Serve very chilled.

LAUNCHING OHEL SARALA/ SIMCHAS OLAM in LONDON. the idea is connecting single girls or boys to daven for childless couples.

A single looking for a shidduch joins the Ohel Sarala Initiative

Joining the initiative requires a donation that will help fund the fertility treatment of a childless couple. There are no minimum or maximum amounts required. It's the goodwill and care that will bring about yeshuos for both.

Bonei Olam pairs her up with a childless couple

All parties involved remain anonymous to each other in order to protect the privacy of all participants. Without knowing each other's names an eternal bond is formed between two individuals who simply wish to build their own home.

They each pray on the other's behalf

Only the Hebrew names are exchanged. Both parties pray that their benefactor should merit a miracle,

My Abba, My Hero

The sun sets over our vineyards in Safsufa. I watch my abba walk away from the fields with a prayer on his lips.

Shmitah has arrived.

For the next year, the land he toiled in and cared for will lay forlorn, its earth, vines, and owner surrendered to a higher calling.

My abba is crying, but he says that he is not afraid. His tears are those of pride.

"You see," he tells me, "Shmitah is a unique opportunity for us farmers to feel closer to our father in heaven."

Abba and Ima told me that this year will be hard, but I know we will be okay. The winds and rains will come, but we will continue to rise, going above nature to fulfill Hashem's will.

I look at my abba, his head tall, his eyes lifted to the sky, and that's when I decide. Someday, when I'm old enough, I too, will be a Shomer Shmitah.

UPCOMING WELLBEING PROGRAMMES

Relationships are a big focus of my work. Couples, from the newly married to those who have been together for decades; new parents and parents who have been parenting for years; and many teens, struggling to find their way.

I see common themes - struggle, overwhelm, pressure, stress, worry, guilt, misunderstanding, resentment, anger, loss of connection and loss of deeper feelings within the family. It always looks so unnecessary.

My husband lost his wife to cancer and was left with four young children. He is a lot older than me, from a very different background. I married him not out of insecurity or lack of options, rather by following a feeling and being guided. And that feeling did not let me down.

Twenty years later, we have been blessed with four more children. It's a blended family dynamic that you might expect to have been a huge challenge but that's not been the case. Yes, we have our ups and downs but we generally live in a beautiful feeling with one another; and when we lose it, we know where to look to find it again.

This is not simply good luck; it's down to a helpful understanding that we were blessed to come across early in our marriage; it was taught by a simple man called Sydney Banks who had a profound realisation about human function and the true nature of Mind, Thought and Consciousness. His simple insights have led many to a deeper understanding of how we human beings work and vastly improved their lives.

I run a very busy Practice, working with individuals, couples and teens who are struggling in many ways. I have found that this understanding can be helpful for a person with anything they might be finding hard - anxiety, depression, OCD, eating disorders etc. But, as it did for me, it can also significantly improve the feeling of life for someone who is doing well. I can't meet personally with everyone who wants to learn more so I felt inspired to try and help individuals and families by running four online programmes. These will run all year round, starting with a ten-week programme, focused on relationships. My husband and I will co-teach with leading pioneers in the field - people who share the wisdom that has allowed them to live in meaningful, happy and successful relationships for many decades.

This will be followed by a ten-week parenting series, again co-teaching with leading practitioners, themselves parents, who have discovered how to parent with ease and joy.

Finally, I will run an eight-week series for teens; I will be co-teaching with Dr Bill Pettit, an incredible psychiatrist who has shared this understanding and wisdom with his patients for over forty years; a man who believes and sees health in all people. I will also be joined by Dr Dicken Bettinger, a clinical psychologist who shares what he knows with deep love and understanding.

If you want to awaken the health and wisdom in your life, if you want to bring more joy to your relationships, if you want to experience parenting with ease, if you are or have a teenager and want to do better, or if you are simply looking for a gentler experience of life, these programmes will provide a means for you to do so.

THIS ROSH HASHONAH, HELP US KEEP LIVES TOGETHER FOR FAMILIES LIKE ROCCO'S

At four months, Rocco was diagnosed with Spinal Muscular Atrophy Type 1 – a rare, genetic and life-limiting condition which affects all his muscles. He is unable to walk, crawl, eat or swallow and needs a machine at night to help him breathe.

“ In the first two years after Rocco was diagnosed, we were in and out of intensive care with one hospital stay lasting six months. I had three older children and was also pregnant.

Our life was in complete turmoil so when Camp Simcha came to see us and told us all the ways they could help, it felt like a lifeline.” - Rocco's mum

This year we have sadly seen a 50% increase in the number of families needing Camp Simcha's support. We need your help to provide bespoke practical, therapeutic and emotional support to 100s of Jewish children like Rocco and their families.
