Menucha's Big Talk

Monday 14th November

At Kinloss

At Last!

The time and place to discuss sensitive women's issues.

Hundreds of women have told us that they want a time and place to discuss the sensitive issues that affect them. They are the kind of issues that don't belong in newspaper advertising, but which we all recognise need a forum for discussion and learning guided by religious authorities and women's health professionals.

- ✓ For women of all ages
- ✓ Creche for under 2's
- ✓ All day refreshments

Polio vaccination for your child

All children aged 1 to 9 years old in London need to have a dose of polio vaccine now. For some children this may be an extra dose of polio vaccine on top of their routine vaccinations. In other children it may just bring them up to date.

What is polio?

Polio is an infection caused by a virus that attacks the nervous system – it can cause permanent paralysis of the muscles. Before the polio vaccine was introduced, there were as many as 8,000 cases of polio in the UK in epidemic years.

Because of the success of the polio vaccination programme, there have been no cases of natural polio infection in the UK for over 30 years and polio was eradicated from the whole of Europe in 2003.

Why your child is being offered a polio booster

Since February 2022, we have found polio virus in sewage samples taken from north London. This suggests that the virus is now spreading between people. This has probably happened because vaccine uptake for infant and toddler vaccinations in London is lower than it should be.

By giving an extra polio vaccine dose, we aim to boost each child's protection starting with the areas of London where the virus has been detected.

Boosting immunity in those who are already vaccinated should also help to reduce the risk of the virus continuing to spread.

Which vaccine will your child be offered

We are using 3 different types of vaccines that all provide excellent protection against polio – they are already used in the routine programme and safely given to millions of children each year.

The only difference between the 3 vaccines is the other infections that they protect against. They all provide protection against polio, tetanus and diphtheria, but some may also top up protection against whooping cough and hepatitis B.

It does not matter which of the 3 vaccines your child gets.

The vaccine you are offered will be the right one for the age of your child.

Age group	Polio vaccinations your child should have already had	Recommended polio vaccinations for this campaign
1 to less than 3 years and 4 months	3 doses of polio vaccine	A single polio booster vaccine – (Infanrix hexa or Vaxelis). At least 4 weeks after their last dose
3 years 4 months to 9 years	4 doses of polio vaccine	A single polio booster vaccine – (Boostrix-IPV or Revaxis) unless they have received their pre-school booster in the past 12 months

After your child has had this extra dose, you still need to complete the routine doses at the recommended age (or as soon as possible afterwards). Check with your GP practice.

How your child can get the polio booster

The NHS will contact you to ask you to book an appointment for your child’s polio vaccine.

For further information and to find your nearest clinic visit: nhs.uk/polio-sites

Side effects

Your child may have some redness, swelling or tenderness in the arm where they had the injection. This will usually disappear in a few days. Rarely, a hard lump may appear in the same place but this will also resolve on its own, usually over a few weeks.

Occasionally, children may be unwell and irritable and develop a temperature and a headache.

You can also report suspected side effects of vaccines and medicines:

- online at Yellow Card Scheme: www.mhra.gov.uk/yellowcard
- calling the Yellow Card scheme on 0800 731 6789 (9am to 5pm)

Those who cannot have the vaccine

There are very few reasons why children cannot receive the polio vaccine. If your child had a serious allergic reaction to a previous vaccination or to certain uncommon antibiotics (neomycin, polymyxin or streptomycin) you may want to check with your doctor.
