Dear Editor

I would like to highlight a very important matter, and I would greatly appreciate it if you could print my letter in your paper.

I was closely involved in two tragic cases of young families one of which was registered with the Areivim UK Group and the other which were not registered. I have seen firsthand the difference between them, with one family being able to b"ch marry off their children quietly, in dignity without any fund raising campaigns, and the other painfully unable to do so.

I was shocked to learn from Areivim that some 30%-40% of every shul in our Kehilla are not yet members of Areivim and therefore not covered.

It is of utmost importance that we get everyone in the community to register. All the Rabbonim have asked and written about this, and many families realise the importance only when it's sadly too late.

May we never have such cases in the future, but are we allowed to stand by and watch situations where young husbands or wives with young families are faced with a double whammy of both losing their beloved one and not being able to finance their children's weddings in the future?

The inevitable public campaigns that always take place after such a death are embarrassing, demeaning and very painful.

All of this could be avoided if these families just sign up to be covered by Areivim.

Every Shul should have a person in charge of identifying, persuading and explaining to all their members the importance of signing up, so to avoid these scenarios in the future.

Areivim askonim have told me they will happily assist anyone who feels they would like to help take on a Shul with all that's needed e.g. forms, posters, lists and other stuff. You can also call me and I'll happily pass on your details.

Helping young widows and the orphans r"l, settling their minds and worries and providing some comfort, dignity and relief in their miserable circumstance, will, no doubt, bring 'brocho and hatzlocho' into our lives and families iy"ch.

Let's make sure everyone in your Shul registers this year, so that we don't ch"v regret it.

May we only hear בשורות טובות
