The Mesila Imp

Before you coached us, money worries sat quietly in the background of our lives. Not loud enough to be called a crisis, but persistent enough to cause concern.

We are a busy working couple blessed with a large family. We had outgrown our home, but despite earning well, the idea of taking on a larger mortgage felt impossible.

More fundamentally, everything looked fine yet we felt financially stuck. Between school fees, kosher living expenses, and simchos, we assumed this was simply how life was at this stage.

We reached out to Mesila because our finances always felt tight and never made sense.

The early meetings were revealing. Our Mesila coach slowed us down to look clearly at what we earned, what we spent, and how everything interacted. Seeing it laid out so clearly was eye-opening, but at first we struggled to see how things could change.

Our coach showed us how we could feel that money was under control rather than overwhelming.

Mesila opened up possibilities where we had only felt pressure and anxiety.

We learned exactly where our money was going and where we had room to adjust. That clarity allowed us to streamline our spending without compromising our lifestyle, saving hundreds each month. For the first time since starting our family, our finances felt clear and manageable.

Halfway through the process, real change began to happen.

With our coach's encouragement and practical support, we asked for salary increases that raised our household income by over £10,000 a year.

Our coach also helped us plan for the future. We set up proper savings for upcoming simchos, replacing the old habit of hoping we would manage when the time came.

What surprised us most was how much Mesila changed our relationship with money. With our coach's guidance, tense conversations became calm and practical, and we learned how a financial plan could work in real life, even when the unexpected came up.

We sought expert advice in many areas of life, yet assumed financial stress was something we had to live with. Mesila showed us it didn't have to be. Today, we feel confident and equipped with a plan for our family's future.

TRE Therapy

TRE Therapy uses your body's natural, gentle reflex (therapeutic tremors) to release deep-seated muscular tension from chronic stress, anxiety, and past trauma. The power of TRE lies in its simplicity: your body does the work. It offers a path to peace in the present that doesn't rely on talking about the past.

Feel calmer & grounded. Sleep better & deeper. Reclaim your energy & resilience.

The sessions are private and tailored to your specific needs and ability.

You'll be guided through the process and learn the exercises so that you can eventually practice safely on your own. You'll gain a lifelong skill for self-healing, without having to rely on a therapist long-term.

Get 25% off all sessions booked this week with code TUBSHVAT25.
